HIFA

HIFA is a global campaign and professional network with more than 17,000 health professionals, librarians, publishers, researchers, policymakers and patients from >2500 organisations in 175 countries. Our shared vision:

A world where every person will have access to the healthcare information they need to protect their own health and the health of others

People are dying for lack of knowledge

Thousands of children and adults die needlessly every day because they do not receive basic life-saving interventions - interventions that are often locally available but are simply not provided due to indecision, delays, misdiagnosis, and incorrect treatment. Many would still be alive today if their mother, caregiver or health worker had access to basic healthcare information. Research indicates that:

- 4 in 10 mothers in India believe they should withhold fluids if their baby develops diarrhoea, thereby tragically increasing their risk of death from dehydration*
- 3 in 4 doctors caring for sick children in Africa and Asia lack basic knowledge of common causes of child death*
- 4 in 10 family doctors in Pakistan use tranquillisers to treat hypertension*
- 7 in 10 women giving birth in health facilities in Africa and South Asia are mismanaged during the 3rd stage of labour, thereby increasing risk of death from postpartum haemorrhage*

Citizens and healthcare providers in low-resource settings do not have access to relevant, reliable healthcare information, contributing to massive unnecessary death and suffering.
